

A method for displaying photo pages on the Internet, the method comprises the steps of displaying a template having a plurality of page layouts on the Internet; displaying a template having a plurality of styles for the page layouts on the Internet; after selection by a user of the page layout and style, displaying the selected combination of the page layout and style for forming a selected photo page on the Internet; and inserting one or more images that are selected by the user into the selected photo page.